CAMPUS SAFETY

Safety Measures

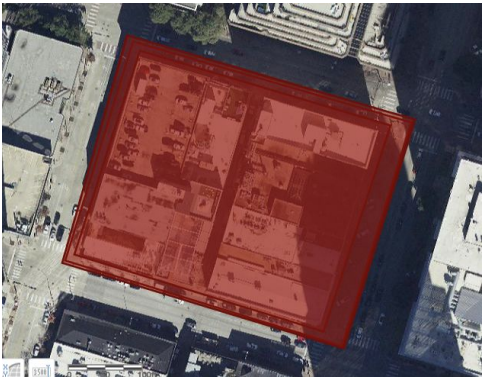

UATX is committed to supporting a safe and secure environment where students, faculty, and staff can focus on learning, teaching, and the daily life of the University. Campus safety brings together access control, an ongoing security presence, visible identification, video surveillance, and emergency communications. These measures work together to support awareness and help protect the campus community.

Access control systems manage entry to and exit from campus facilities, while multiple armed security officers remain on duty at all times. UATX-issued identification cards must be displayed while on campus, helping make members of the University community readily identifiable and supporting the management of campus access. Closed-circuit television (CCTV) cameras provide video surveillance of campus areas as an additional component of these security measures.

When emergencies occur, UATX uses AlertMedia to send live notifications to the campus community. These communications provide a way to share emergency information and help recipients stay informed as circumstances develop. Together, the University's physical security measures and emergency communications support a campus environment centered on preparedness, awareness, and the well-being of its community.
